PROCESSIONS OF FUNERALS.

For two days there have been constant processions of funerals to Rural Cemetery. Eighteen funerals occurred Saturday, and Sunday was a day of sorrowful services here.

The Christian Church has been turned into a morgue, and forty-four bodies have been taken there. Other bodies have been moved to private houses. Several are still buried in the ruins of the business district.

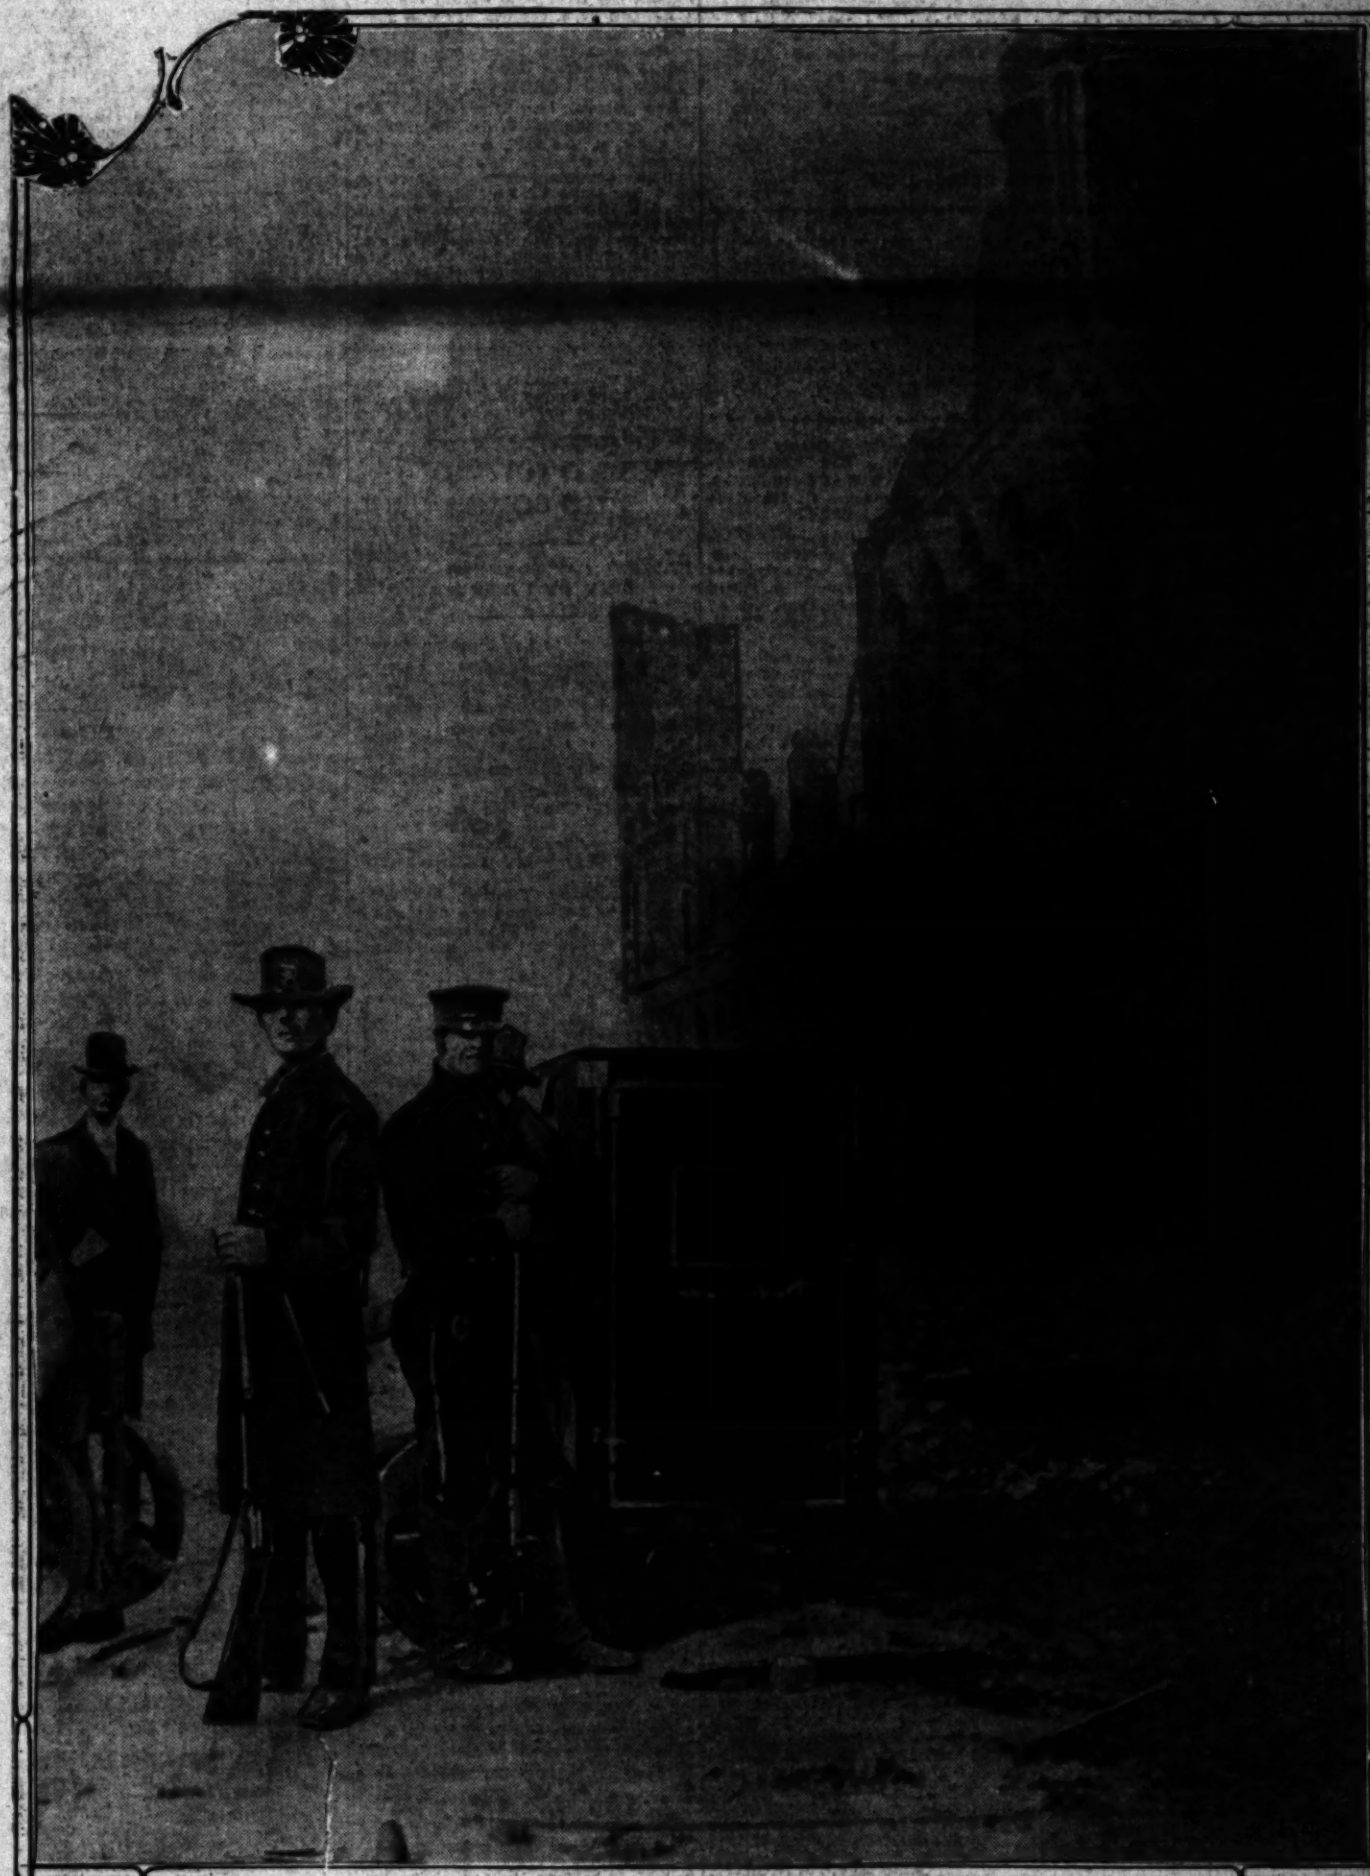

NO TWO-STORY BLOCKS.

Not a single two-story brick or stone building remains standing tonight in this city of 10,000 inhabitants. The violence of the earthquake shock here doubtless exceeded even that at San Francisco, for

Now That Complete Order Has Been Re-established, Attention Is Turned to the Future—Blankets and Tents Reaching the Supply Stations Rapidly—Gen. A. W. Greely in Charge of the Military.

(BY THE ASSOCIATED PRESS—P.M.)

SAN FRANCISCO, April 23.—The terrible strain put upon the people of San Francisco who still have a roof over their heads tonight found relaxation in many homes in music and song. Lights were permitted in all houses until 10 o'clock, and everywhere was heard the cheerful sound of the piano once more and the harmony of voices for deliverance and safety, after days and nights of uncertainty and terror.

SAN FRANCISCO, April 23.—The new San Francisco, which will rise from the ashes of the old, was in its first stages of rebuilding today. After five days of confusion and almost superhuman effort on the part of the citizens of California's metropolis, the great task of sheltering, feeding and otherwise caring for the homeless thousands, complete order has been reestablished and attention turned to the future. Throughout the great business district where the devastation of the flames was the most complete, walls were being razed, buildings that had not been destroyed before the intense heat were being inspected with the view to occupying, and even ground was being cleared for the immediate construction of some sort of a building in which to resume business at the earliest possible time. In short, confidence has been restored. The assurance of the insurance companies, the measures taken by the financial institutions, the prompt and reassuring word that had reached the business men of San Francisco from eastern financial centers—all these things went to clear away any feeling of uncertainty that might have existed in the minds of the timid that San Francisco would not again be what it was—a great center of population and business for the Pacific Coast. GEN. GREELY IN CHARGE. Gen. Greely took command of the Federal troops at this post, superseding Gen. Frederick Funston, who will

(BY DIRECT WIRE TO THE TIMES) OAKLAND, April 23.—(Exclusive Dispatch.) The tower on the Ferry Building has been condemned by government engineers and is being torn down. The following is the report of the engineers:

"To Brig.-Gen. Funston, commanding: In the matter of the safety of the Ferry Building, we have made inspection and will submit a full report later. The tower is unsafe, and especially during a high wind. Nothing but a great emergency would justify allowing the public to pass within the circumference of the tower, and especially if the tower should fall. Slip 4, accordingly, should not be used. Literary People and Artists in Horrors' Midst.

Mary Austin Now Making Biscuits for Hungry.

William Keith Turned Back from His Canvasses.

(BY THE ASSOCIATED PRESS—P.M.)

BERKELEY, April 23.—Of the many literary people, artists and scholars located in San Francisco many had trying experiences. Mary Austin was at the home of friends on Vallejo street, beyond Van Ness avenue, when the temblor rocked the city. Her manuscripts and valuable library are safe. Since the first day, she had been working day and night aiding in the work of relief, doing Red Cross service and baking biscuits and bread for the hungry. KEITH IN DESPAIR.

William Keith, the landscape artist, whose studio was on Pine street, was in Berkeley on the morning of the earthquake and as this city received only the slight force of the shock he escaped injury. As soon as the great roll of smoke was seen to arise over the city he started across the bay to save what paintings he could from the studio. Once in San Francisco, he made his way to within a few blocks of the building, but, despite his frantic entreaties, the armed guards would let him go no farther. Rejected and heart sick, he returned to Berkeley, thinking he had lost everything, but yesterday he learned that a volunteer band of friends had broken into his studio and saved many paintings.

CARRIED PICTURE ALL NIGHT. Richard Huddart, a young artist friend of Keith, took the last big canvas out and thinking that the entire city was doomed, he refused to place the picture in any house, but carried it on his back all through the night over the hills of the city, finally making his way to Berkeley, where he delivered the canvas in person to the artist himself.

DR. MOORE SAVES MANUSCRIPTS. Dr. Ernest Carroll Moore, philosopher and sociologist, whose home was on Washington street, lost almost everything in the fire. The house was burned to the ground on the second day. He rescued the manuscripts for two books on which he had been working, a priceless and rare edition of Dante, and five or four books. In company with Mrs. Moore, he made his way to Berkeley, after walking seven miles to the ferry building.

MRS. ATHERTON A VOLUNTEER. Mrs. Gertrude Atherton was in Berkeley on the morning of the shock, having transferred her library here for the summer only a day before the terrible visitation. Immediately after the earthquake she made her way to San Francisco, and has been working valiantly with countless others on the Relief Committee.

A hasty wedding that dispelled some of the gloom of the San Francisco disaster from the hearts of a number of refugees took place in Berkeley last evening. Robert F. Benham, a young merchant and prominent citizen of Portland, Ore., on his way to San Francisco to wed Miss Mary Louise Hale, a society girl of that city, when the earthquake of Wednesday morning occurred. When his train arrived in San Francisco the city was in flaming ruins. After a search of two days he located his sweetheart and some of her friends. They were shelterless, and in dire want, having escaped from the flames with nothing but their clothing. Together, the party came over to Berkeley, where they found friends, and were hastily married yesterday afternoon.

INCREASING SUPPLIES AS FAST AS POSSIBLE.

(BY THE ASSOCIATED PRESS—P.M.)

SAN FRANCISCO, April 23.—There is a vast supply of provisions on hand for the people of San Francisco. Maj. C. R. Crutchoff, Chief Deputy Commissary of the Department of California, stated today that there was available 700,000 rations of supplies. This included those at the Presidio, Fort Mason, transport docks and railroad yards. More than 100 carloads additional are being distributed from the Southern Pacific yards.

Water is still scarce in some sections of the city, but every effort is being made to increase the supply from day to day. At the present time, the water is turned on only at certain hours of the day and night, and is in ample supply for domestic needs in the districts where the water mains are still intact. Complete inspection of the system in the inhabited sections is being followed rapidly. At some points the pipes have been found badly twisted and displaced from the effects of the quake, and the sewers have to be replaced by new ones.

The street car companies announced today that four different lines were now ready for operation, and service would be restored on these lines as soon as the city authorities would permit the turning on of the electric power.

The electric lighting companies today stated that it was hoped that power would be available for lighting houses and streets within the next three or four days, or whenever it may be considered safe to do so.

of the Largest Camps, That at Fort Mason, Up of People From Poorer Quarters—Little Prevails There—Satisfactory Progress in the Task of Feeding the Hundreds of Thousands.
(BY THE ASSOCIATED PRESS—P.M.)
SAN FRANCISCO, April 24.—It was a scene of misery and suffering that met the eye as one entered the city from the north today. The heavy rain that had been falling since yesterday morning had done much to increase the misery of the thousands of homeless people who were crowded into the city. The streets were filled with the wretched-looking creatures who had been driven from their homes by the fire. They were seen everywhere, begging for food and shelter. The police officers were busy trying to keep order, but they were overwhelmed by the numbers. The fire had been burning for several days, and the city was a mass of ruins. The people who had been living in the city before the fire were now homeless. They were crowded into the few remaining buildings, and they were suffering from lack of food and shelter. The police officers were trying to help them, but they were not enough. The city was a scene of misery and suffering. The fire had been burning for several days, and the city was a mass of ruins. DESOLATION AT SANTA ROSA every building in the destroyed district was ruined by the tremor before fire broke out in the debris.

COMPLETE RUIN.

A district six blocks long and four blocks wide, taking in the very center of the business section, lies in complete ruins.

NOTED BUILDINGS GONE.

The Courthouse, built twenty years ago, collapsed, but the county records are safe. The $25,000 Carnegie Library is a wreck. The Occidental Hotel, the pride of Santa Rosa, a three-story structure occupying a full half block, is leveled to the ground. In its ruins still lie several victims.

EIGHT BODIES AT ST. ROSE.

Hotel St. Rose and the Eagle Hotel each went down with a crash that brought death in its wake. Eight bodies have been taken from the St. Rose.

SHOE FACTORY SMASHED.

The Santa Rosa shoe factory, outside the downtown district, was a four-story wooden structure. It is smashed into kindling wood, and its destruction throws out of employment fifty men and thirty girls.

NO CHURCHES DESTROYED.

Not a church in Santa Rosa was destroyed. The relief committee is using the Methodist Church, South, as its headquarters.

FOOD GREATLY NEEDED.

Two thousand earthquake and fire victims are being cared for. Food has been brought in from Petaluma, Healdsburg and Cloverdale, but the supply is almost exhausted and more help is needed. There is no telegraphic connection with outside points. Trains are operated to Vallejo Junction.

PAST EXALTED RULER'S BODY.

The body of William H. Mallory, past exalted ruler of the Elks at Stockton, lies in the Christian Church here, awaiting shipment to his home today.

SUNSET TELEPHONE MANAGER.

N. L. Jones, local manager of the Sunset Telephone Company, was killed, and his body will be sent to Stockton today.

MERCHANT SMITH KILLED.

William H. Smith, a San Francisco merchant, lies dead here with his body unclaimed.

Mrs. R. H. Brown, just arrived from the East, and who has a brother who is a physician at Santa Barbara, is a victim. She was killed in the St. Rose Hotel.

MORE COFFINS NEEDED.

The supply of coffins, both here and at Petaluma, is exhausted and men are at work making plain boxes to hold bodies for burial.

Both daily papers have lost their plants. Four members of the Press Democrat force of employees were killed in a falling building. The dailies issue a joint edition on a 7x11 Pearl printing press. Up to 11 o'clock this forenoon no more bodies have been recovered, but it is absolutely certain that many bodies are yet underneath the ruins.

QUAKE WORSE THAN FIRE.

The entire business center of Santa Rosa is a complete wreck. Block after block lies prostrate. The earthquake shock here was terrific. Fire did comparatively little damage compared with the shock. Every building burned was first demolished by the quake.

The fire was confined entirely to the business district, although many homes in the outside sections are in ruins from the temblor. Every able-bodied man in Santa Rosa is laboring either in a search for bodies in the ruins or in the care of refugees.

HOPELESS RUINS.

The Public Library, the City Hall and Hall of Records, the Masonic Block, just completed at a cost of $100,000; the Occidental Hotel, reaching entirely through the block from Fourth to Fifth streets and facing on B street, just completed at a cost of $135,000; the postoffice, the Athenaeum Theater, the newspaper offices of the Press Democrat and Republican, the telegraph and telephone stations—in fact, every public building or important business concern in the center of Santa Rosa lies a hopeless, heartbreaking heap of ruins.

LOST HUMAN LIVES.

But more terrible than these great masses of ruins are the dread secrets they hold of lost human lives. From several points even now arises the stench of decomposing human flesh. It is certain that before the day is over many additions will be made to the list of killed.

At the Christian Church, now turned into a public morgue, pitiful in the extreme are the scenes to be witnessed. While many bodies have received sepulture, others still lie unidentified. On one long table stands a gruesome array of vessels, buckets, boxes, etc., containing all that remains of human bodies found in the ashes. In many cases these are known because of the location where found.

Bouquets of flowers are laid on top of buckets or boxes by some loving friend as a slight offering to take away, even in a minute degree, the horror of it all.

LOS ANGELENO AMONG VICTIMS.

Among the victims found yesterday is Nick Stanfi, or Stanford, of Los Angeles, a traveling man who was at the Santa Rosa Hotel.

TWO THOUSAND REFUGEES.

Two thousand refugees are being fed by the relief committee and given other aid. Half the people of the city are living out of doors, as they fear a repetition of the earthquake. Tents and temporary shelters are seen everywhere outside of the burned district.

CAPT. ROCKWELL TURNS WRECKER.

Capt. E. B. Rockwell of Junction City, Kan., here to visit relatives, has offered to pay for wrecking walls still standing in the business district, to guard against further loss of life. The city accepted the offer for two days, and he paid out $800 to men on this work.

TAKING BODIES AWAY.

The bodies of Mr. and Mrs. William Peacock of San Francisco have been taken to Petaluma. That of E. B. Knapp, a Boston traveling man, was buried at Santa Rosa. Joseph Boyle's body was shipped to Napa. Those of Mrs. Jessie De Young, Charles and Violet De Young were shipped to Ukiah. The body of Phoebe A. Green, a victim at Hotel St. Rose, was sent to Petaluma. Those of McCord and Will Day were sent to Healdsburg. Marshall Thresher's body goes to Greenville tonight.

M'CALLA SENDS MARINES.

Admiral McCalla sent up fifty marines from Vallejo to work on the wrecking of ruined walls. They returned last night. The California and Northwest Railway also sent a wrecking crew here.

FORESTVILLE WINERY GONE.

The large winery at Forestville, a suburb section, is in ruins. The Hotel St. Rose had 217 guests. The Daily Press-Democrat lost four people from its corps. They are George Bluth, William Bluth and Charles Shepherd, carriers, and Milo Fish, pressman. Shepherd's body has not been recovered.

NATIONAL GUARD IN CONTROL.

Company C of Petaluma and Company E of Santa Rosa, National Guard, are in charge of the city. Only laborers are allowed to enter the burned district.

TAKING OUT VICTIMS.

Deputy County Clerk Jack Ford was released from the ruins of the Occidental Hotel just as the fire had reached his feet and he had given up all hope.

Mrs. G. B. Manning, wife of the proprietor of the Grand Hotel, was carried out dying and laid on a lawn at the Courthouse. In her last breath she cried out in agony for her baby. Only a moment later the child was taken out of the building a crushed, shapeless mass, and laid in the dead mother's arms.

The Santa Rosa flouring mills, employing a large number of men, is a complete loss. The morning before the earthquake, John Mather, the proprietor, had started for England.

KENTUCKY MAN'S ESCAPE.

C. O. Duffy, from Owensboro, Ky., was a survivor from the wreck of the Santa Rosa Hotel, but was one of a number caught in the ruins of the falling building. Although entirely hidden from view beneath the debris, Duffy managed to signal to the rescuers, through several feet of plaster and laths, and was finally dug out. In relating his miraculous escape, he said:

"When I registered at Santa Rosa, Tuesday night, there were ninety-eight people in this hotel altogether. When the crash came during the awful earthquake, none could escape. As I staggered about the room, trying to reach the door to the hall, I soon realized there was absolutely no hope. But I literally dived alongside a big mahogany bureau in the room, and when timbers, laths and plaster came down, I was fortunately left in a three-cornered place of comparative safety, for timbers and debris did not rest on me heavily. I could barely breathe, and when I heard the rescuers talking above my head, I secured a lath which I forced with much effort through the debris, and this I waved about until they took notice. And they were quick to the rescue. I could not have tasted much longer."

EXTENT OF RUINED DISTRICT.

The ruined district includes Fourth street, Exchange avenue, Hinton avenue, B street, from Third to Fifth; A street, from Third to Fifth; Fifth street, from D to A; Fourth street, from Wilson to Third.

CHURCH SERVICES.

Services were held in all the churches today. Masses for the dead were said at the Catholic and Episcopal churches. Ursuline College and the convent are uninjured. Pacific Methodist College also escaped uninjured. The school buildings were slightly injured. The big wineries and bonded warehouses were only slightly injured. The fruit packing and god warehouses were saved.

T. J. GEARY'S PARTY.

Thomas J. Geary, ex-Congressman, and author of the Chinese Exclusion Act, was in Los Angeles at the time of the catastrophe. He returned with a party from Los Angeles, composed of Vernon Goodwin, auditor of the Alexandria Hotel, Los Angeles, whose sister, Miss Bessie Goodwin, lives here; Walter Nagle, famous baseball pitcher, whose parents live here; and H. C. Bryan, whose parents are Santa Rosa people. All found relatives safe.

THREE MEN KILLED.

Three men were killed in the collapse of the Elbonita Hotel, at Duncan's Mills. Most of the buildings at Bloomfield, fourteen miles southwest of Santa Rosa, have collapsed.

Only one case of looting is reported so far. The scoundrel was caught robbing a trunk in St. Rose Hotel ruins. Seven bodies of unfortunate victims, for whom no private funeral arrangements were made, were buried in one large grave Friday afternoon.

At the rural cemetery the earthquake has laid to earth nearly every tombstone and monument.

PLANNING TO REBUILD.

Even before the embers of the disastrous fire have died in the earthquake ruins, plans are formulating for the rebuilding of Santa Rosa on a better scale than before. Mass meetings of business men and property owners have been held and plans discussed for a re-survey of the entire business district, widening streets, etc.

Ex-Mayor Sweet today stated he would not sell his property at a cent less than the price prevailing before the disaster. Other prominent men express the same opinion. Plans are being completed for immediate reconstruction of large blocks. The Press Democrat has ordered a full newspaper equipment from Chicago.

GENERALLY HOPEFUL SPIRIT.

A generally hopeful spirit was noticed among business men who stood today in the streets of Santa Rosa with only so much money of their own as they happened to have in their pockets when the great crash came. The Santa Rosa Relief Committee asks further contributions of salt meats and coffee, as the supply here is almost exhausted. Six trained nurses are urgently needed.

Refugees from Oakland, arriving here on the Southern Pacific train, are sent on to Healdsburg or Petaluma. Up to noon Sunday the relief committee has given aid in 3000 cases.

The famous propagation houses of Luther Burbank stand intact.

PATROLS TAKE VALUED LIFE.

Maj. Tilden Shot While on Errand of Mercy.

Three Reckless Citizens Given Over to Funston.

Vigilantes' Killing Creates Greatest Indignation.

(BY THE ASSOCIATED PRESS—P.M.)

SAN FRANCISCO, April 23.—One of the most unfortunate happenings since the city has been under joint police supervision of the government, the municipality and the state militia, was the killing at an early hour today of Maj. H. C. Tilden, a prominent member of the Citizens' General Committee and a well-known merchant in the extreme southwestern part of the city.

The killing was done by three members of a self-constituted vigilance committee. The three men, displaying no badge of authority, ordered the party in the automobile to halt, following the demand almost immediately with a volley of pistol shots. Maj. Tilden was shot through the back and two other occupants of the machine were wounded.

Maj. Tilden was returning from Menlo Park. Hugh Altschul, his coachman, who was in the automobile, was cut in the face by a bullet, and another bullet pierced the seat and struck R. G. Seaman, acting lieutenant of the Second Company of the Signal Corps, in the back. The force of the bullet had been spent, and Seaman, who had been detailed on special duty with Tilden, picked the ball out of his cartridge belt.

The shooting occurred at Twenty-second and Guerrero streets. Maj. Tilden was a prominent commission merchant of this city, a member of Gov. Pardee's staff, and one of the foremost workers in the general relief work. He had taken his three children and a nurse from the Fourteen Mile House, where they had been since the earthquake, to Menlo Park, where he has a summer cottage. His automobile had been used as an ambulance in conveying sick and wounded from the hospitals and was carrying the Red Cross flag prominently displayed. Besides this, he had the Red Cross insignia on his right arm.

LIUT. SEAMAN'S STORY. According to Acting-Lieut. Seaman, Tilden was his own chauffeur and left Menlo Park about 9 o'clock. At Twenty-eighth and Guerrero streets they were challenged by the first of the three patrols. Upon calling out "Red Cross" they were allowed to pass. At Twenty-fifth street a second patrol challenged them, and immediately gave way upon perceiving the Red Cross flag. Crossing Twenty-second street at about fifteen miles an hour, according to Seaman, six men stood in the middle of the road, separating when the car got within fifty feet of them. When within ten feet, the first patrol fired, and the car passed them. The shots from the second patrol began, and the exception of a bullet grazing the face of Tilden's friend.

The machine had gone about fifty feet past the patrol, said Seaman, "when the car stopped suddenly. Tilden fell over toward me, saying: 'Well, they got me—they killed me.' I stepped back in the seat and rolled out of the car. I sprang up and fired five shots in quick succession at the man who was still shooting behind us. About the same time Tilden fell in my lap a bullet struck me in the back and nearly knocked me out of my seat. I put my hand to my head, my carbide belt and picked out the bullet which had come through the seat. The man who did the shooting was in khaki uniform. A doctor came running from a house nearby and after examining Tilden said he was dead. Several policemen came running up and arrested the men who did the shooting."

DIDN'T SEE RED CROSS. Altschul, whose right cheek is swollen where one of the shots grazed it, stated that Tilden stopped the machine when the shooting began, jumped out of the car, saying: "I am shot—they have killed me." went to the sidewalk and fell dead.

The three men under arrest are E. E. Boynton, a telephone inspector in the employ of the Pacific States Telephone Company; George W. Simmons, and Malcolm T. Vance. They are all young men and members of a "citizens' patrol." Boynton declares he did not see the Red Cross flag on Tilden's car and when the latter did not stop when challenged he fired in the air. The soldier then began shooting at Simmons and Vance replied. The killing has created the greatest indignation.

H. M. Brann of Brann & Prior, salivators, and who resided near-by, was awakened and impressed into service as chauffeur. Tilden's body was placed in his car and taken to the Central Police Station, at Bush and Fillmore streets. Owing to the automobile constantly breaking down it took Seaman two hours to reach police headquarters, where the body was placed on an improvised stretcher and taken to the emergency hospital on Bush street, between Fillmore and Steiner streets.

Three men arrested for killing Maj. Tilden were taken by Chief of Police Dinan in an automobile to Fort Mason this morning and turned over by him to Gen. Funston.

ALBANY'S QUICK ACTION.

New York State Contributes Quarter of a Million Dollars in Four and a Half Minutes.

(BY DIRECT WIRE TO THE TIMES.) ALBANY, April 23.—[Exclusive Dispatch.] The State gave $250,000 tonight for the relief of the people of California without a word of debate. The Assembly received the message from the Governor asking for the appropriation. Mr. Moreland, Republican leader, introduced the bill, and it was committed to the Ways and Means Committee, which discharged it from its consideration, thus allowing the bill to pass in exactly four and one-half minutes.

In the Senate the Assembly bill was substituted for a bill introduced there by Senator Raines and was passed in a minute and a half.

GROCKER ESTATE CONFERENCE. NEW HAVEN, April 23.—[Exclusive Dispatch.] Charles T. Crocker, a student in Yale and a member of a wealthy San Francisco family, will go home in a few days to take part in a family conference. He has heard that the big Crocker building is not so seriously damaged, but that it can be rehabilitated. Only the top story is really gutted so that it probably will have to be rebuilt. The Crocker houses, however, are destroyed.

STRIP VESSELS OF SUPPLIES.

SAN FRANCISCO, April 23, Dr. E. A. Dignan, of the Harbor Emergency Hospital, with a police patrol today boarded vessel after vessel lying in the harbor to obtain supplies for relief. In every case the companies gave willingly. Bunks of sailors were stripped of blankets and bedding and in many cases the cargo was secured to be used in place of tents.

OPERA SINGERS GO EAST.

BENSON (APRIL) April 23.—[Exclusive Dispatch.] With chorus girls without shoes and most of them scantily clad, the Morris Grand Opera Company passed through here in a special train at noon today on its way from San Francisco to New York City. The company returns East with only one of eight property cars taken West.

A BUSY WOMAN

Can Do the Work of 3 or 4 It Well Fed.

An energetic young woman living just outside of N. Y. writes: "I am at present doing all the housework of a dairy farm, caring for 2 children, a vegetable and flower garden, a large number of fowls, besides managing an extensive exchange business through the mails and pursuing my regular avocation as a writer for several newspapers and magazines (designing fancy work for the latter) and all the energy and ability to do this I owe to Grape-Nuts food."

"It was not always so, and a year ago when the shock of my nursing baby's death utterly prostrated me and deranged my stomach and nerves so that I could not assimilate as much as a mouthful of solid food, and was in even worse condition mentally, he would have been a rash prophet who would have predicted that it ever would be so."

"Prior to this great grief I had suffered for years with impaired digestion, indigestion, acid eructations, in the stomach, pain in the side, constipation, and other bowel derangements, all these were familiar to my daily life. Medicines gave me no relief—nothing did, until a few months ago, at a friend's suggestion I began to use Grape-Nuts food, and subsequently gave up coffee entirely and adopted Postum Food Coffee at all my meals."

"Today I am free from all the troubles I have enumerated. My digestion is simply perfect, I assimilate my food without the least distress, enjoy sweet, restful sleep, and have a buoyant feeling of pleasure in my varied duties. In fact, I am a new woman, entirely made over, and I repeat, I owe it all to Grape-Nuts and Postum Coffee." Name given by Postum Co., Battle Creek, Mich.

EMERYVILLE, April 22.—Shell Mound Park and the race track have been transformed into one big camp for the refugees. The cooks of the race track and restaurants are working night and day providing food for the homeless, who have been given shelter in the sheds and some of the track barns. Hundreds of track followers are being shipped from Emeryville to outside points, and the homeless men who save any money have not hesitated to divide with the less fortunate. George Lyons, a bookmaker, drew $1000 from one of the San Francisco banks before it closed and has provided living expenses for many a track follower left penniless.

QUAKE NEWS CAUSES SUICIDE.

John Van Saun Ends Life in New York After Breeding Over the Catastrophe.

(BY DIRECT WIRE TO THE TIMES.)
NEW YORK, April 22.—[Exclusive Dispatch.] John Van Saun, vice-president of the G. W. Dillingham Publishing Company, committed suicide today by shooting himself in the head and his friends say that his act was due to worry over the San Francisco catastrophe. With his wife and mother this morning after breakfast in their apartments in the Hotel Newton, Mr. Van Saun spent an hour reading the news of the disaster.

On account of the blockade at the tunnel, near Wrights, on the Coast route, all trains for Los Angeles are coming via the San Joaquin Valley. A trainload of fatigued passengers reached Kern at 11:30 a.m. and 500 were given wholesome food by the local citizens. This train is going as far as El Paso, Tex., and the refugees are at liberty to stop off at any point they choose. No tickets are required. Early tomorrow morning another Santa Fe train will arrive from the stricken city, and all preparations have been made to feed 200. The refugees that are to be taken care of permanently by the city of Bakersfield will arrive on the Santa Fe line tomorrow night.

Phelan Building, Market and Albe

Remnants of a notorious gambling house. Some San Francisco ruins.

Frank Skinner and his ninety-two-year-old mother, visiting here from Canada, escaped from a burning building and have taken quarters with friends elsewhere in the city. William Murray, the caller, had a narrow escape. He was with Mrs. Murray on the sixth floor of the Regina when the first shock came. The roof fell in and the building was badly cracked. Plaster fell in the halls and throughout the hotel. Hastily dressing, Murray took his young wife in his arms and struggled down the six flights of stairs. The building was swaying and about to crash to the ground, while the hall was almost impassable on account of the fallen plaster and timbers. Mrs. Murray insisted on carrying her pet dog, which added to Murray's burden. She was sent to her home in Los Angeles. George Rose, the bookmaker and principal owner of Ascot Park, Los Angeles, escaped in a pair of pajamas and light slippers. He hastily gathered all his most valuable belongings in a barrel and rolled the barrel for over a mile to a place of safety. Bill Jackson, the New York bookmaker, was enjoying an automobile ride during the earthquake and was hurled high in the air from the plunging machine. The frightened chauffeur raced away, leaving Jackson dazed in the midst of falling buildings. He escaped without serious injury. Art Newman, the horse owner, and Mrs. Newman and the horse owner, were at the Terminus Hotel. After the shock Newman and Mrs. Newman and the boy jumped to an adjoining roof and fought their way over the fallen timbers and plaster to the street and went at once to Oakland. Barney Schreiber, the bookmaker, escaped with his bankroll and without a scratch. W. G. Engstrom and Abe Stiemler went to work aiding in the rescue work. Engstrom was busy digging ditches and Stiemler put in a day tossing bricks. Macgrane and a filly, sister to Yellow Tail, were at the track at the time. Macgrane ran away and was slightly injured. The filly threw her boy, and, running into a post, was killed. As soon as possible all stables which were not shipped East will be sent to Seattle. It is the general impression that the Petaluma meeting is off and every effort will be made to have the Seattle races open earlier than was planned.

STANDARD GIVES HELP GIGANTIC.

FLOOD OF GOLD POURS OUT FOR SUFFERERS.

John D. Rockefeller's Hundred Thousand is Speedily Followed by Another Hundred Thousand from the Oil Company—Many Trains Passing Through Bakersfield.

(BY DIRECT WIRE TO THE TIMES.)
BAKERSFIELD, April 22.—[Exclusive Dispatch.] The Standard Oil Company has been arranging for tremendous relief work for the San Francisco sufferers, and Bakersfield is to be the distributing point. In the past two days D. G. Scofield, general manager of the company, has received many telegrams from the president and vice-president of the oil combine at New York City. On Thursday John D. Rockefeller wired to Mr. Scofield to consult Attorney Pillsbury and expend $100,000 as they best see fit. This message was closely followed by another from the Standard Oil Company to use another $100,000 for the same purpose. Attorney Pillsbury, General Manager Schofield and Assistant General Manager Rheem of the Pacific Coast Oil Company, consulted this afternoon, and wired to Mr. Tilford at No. 28 Broadway, the suggestion that he arrange with the Secretary of the Treasury for permission to obtain $200,000 in cash from the Mint in San Francisco. There is $100,000 in coin wanted for Mr. Rockefeller's personal use. Another $100,000 is wanted to use on behalf of the Standard relief, and $100,000 is needed to carry on the business of the big combine. These gentlemen stated that the money in vaults at San Francisco would not be available for at least two weeks. H. H. Rogers wired to Mr. Scofield that he had purchased a trainload of provisions in Butte, Mont., and that the Union Pacific was transporting the supplies to this city to be distributed from this point. H. E. Felson of the Union Tank Company wired from New York to his superintendent in the Kern River oil fields to clean out a lot of their cars immediately and use them for conveying fresh water to San Francisco. Nearly all the express messengers and mail clerks of the trains that pass through this city, reside in San Francisco, and yesterday nearly all left their positions and hastened to the aid of their families in the stricken city. The local postoffice was obliged to care for wagonloads of mail. This was asserted, placed in direct pouches and sent to the destinations. Groceries have increased 10 per cent. This rate will continue about four weeks. Considerable mail was received from San Francisco today without being stamped. Last night and this morning 100 cars of provisions passed through this city en route to San Francisco on both the Santa Fe and Southern Pacific. The Los Angeles Citizens' Relief Committee special of thirty cars, equipped with all manner of supplies for a complete relief camp, left Kern City for the north about noon. The horses in the cars were watered at this point. On account of the blockade at the tunnel, near Wrights, on the Coast route, all trains for Los Angeles are coming via the San Joaquin Valley. A trainload of fatigued passengers reached Kern at 11:30 a.m. and 500 were given wholesome food by the local citizens. This train is going as far as El Paso, Tex., and the refugees are at liberty to stop off at any point they choose. No tickets are required. Early tomorrow morning another Santa Fe train will arrive from the stricken city, and all preparations have been made to feed 200. The refugees that are to be taken care of permanently by the city of Bakersfield will arrive on the Santa Fe line tomorrow night.

Frank Skinner and his ninety-two-year-old mother, visiting here from Canada, escaped from a burning building and have taken quarters with friends elsewhere in the city. William Murray, the caller, had a narrow escape. He was with Mrs. Murray on the sixth floor of the Regina when the first shock came. The roof fell in and the building was badly cracked. Plaster fell in the halls and throughout the hotel. Hastily dressing, Murray took his young wife in his arms and struggled down the six flights of stairs. The building was swaying and about to crash to the ground, while the hall was almost impassable on account of the fallen plaster and timbers. Mrs. Murray insisted on carrying her pet dog, which added to Murray's burden. She was sent to her home in Los Angeles. George Rose, the bookmaker and principal owner of Ascot Park, Los Angeles, escaped in a pair of pajamas and light slippers. He hastily gathered all his most valuable belongings in a barrel and rolled the barrel for over a mile to a place of safety. Bill Jackson, the New York bookmaker, was enjoying an automobile ride during the earthquake and was hurled high in the air from the plunging machine. The frightened chauffeur raced away, leaving Jackson dazed in the midst of falling buildings. He escaped without serious injury. Art Newman, the horse owner, and Mrs. Newman and the horse owner, were at the Terminus Hotel. After the shock Newman and Mrs. Newman and the boy jumped to an adjoining roof and fought their way over the fallen timbers and plaster to the street and went at once to Oakland. Barney Schreiber, the bookmaker, escaped with his bankroll and without a scratch. W. G. Engstrom and Abe Stiemler went to work aiding in the rescue work. Engstrom was busy digging ditches and Stiemler put in a day tossing bricks. Macgrane and a filly, sister to Yellow Tail, were at the track at the time. Macgrane ran away and was slightly injured. The filly threw her boy, and, running into a post, was killed. As soon as possible all stables which were not shipped East will be sent to Seattle. It is the general impression that the Petaluma meeting is off and every effort will be made to have the Seattle races open earlier than was planned.

John D. Rockefeller's Hundred Thousand is Speedily Followed by Another Hundred Thousand from the Oil Company—Many Trains Passing Through Bakersfield.

(BY DIRECT WIRE TO THE TIMES.)
BAKERSFIELD, April 22.—[Exclusive Dispatch.] The Standard Oil Company has been arranging for tremendous relief work for the San Francisco sufferers, and Bakersfield is to be the distributing point. In the past two days D. G. Scofield, general manager of the company, has received many telegrams from the president and vice-president of the oil combine at New York City. On Thursday John D. Rockefeller wired to Mr. Scofield to consult Attorney Pillsbury and expend $100,000 as they best see fit. This message was closely followed by another from the Standard Oil Company to use another $100,000 for the same purpose. Attorney Pillsbury, General Manager Schofield and Assistant General Manager Rheem of the Pacific Coast Oil Company, consulted this afternoon, and wired to Mr. Tilford at No. 28 Broadway, the suggestion that he arrange with the Secretary of the Treasury for permission to obtain $200,000 in cash from the Mint in San Francisco. There is $100,000 in coin wanted for Mr. Rockefeller's personal use. Another $100,000 is wanted to use on behalf of the Standard relief, and $100,000 is needed to carry on the business of the big combine. These gentlemen stated that the money in vaults at San Francisco would not be available for at least two weeks. H. H. Rogers wired to Mr. Scofield that he had purchased a trainload of provisions in Butte, Mont., and that the Union Pacific was transporting the supplies to this city to be distributed from this point. H. E. Felson of the Union Tank Company wired from New York to his superintendent in the Kern River oil fields to clean out a lot of their cars immediately and use them for conveying fresh water to San Francisco. Nearly all the express messengers and mail clerks of the trains that pass through this city, reside in San Francisco, and yesterday nearly all left their positions and hastened to the aid of their families in the stricken city. The local postoffice was obliged to care for wagonloads of mail. This was asserted, placed in direct pouches and sent to the destinations. Groceries have increased 10 per cent. This rate will continue about four weeks. Considerable mail was received from San Francisco today without being stamped. Last night and this morning 100 cars of provisions passed through this city en route to San Francisco on both the Santa Fe and Southern Pacific. INJURED SEAMAN WAS TOO ILL
TO BE REMOVED.

Rear-Admiral Evans Would Not Allow His Vessel to Proceed With Other Battleships for Fear of Lessening Chance of Sailor King Who Was Wounded in Explosion.

(BY DIRECT WIRE TO THE TIMES.)
CALIFORNIA (Cuba) April 22.—[Exclusive Dispatch.] King, a seaman who was badly burned in the recent disaster on board the Kearsarge, died on board his ship last night after a brave struggle lasting nine days. He was too ill to be removed from the Kearsarge to the Maryland without risk to his life, and too ill to permit of the Kearsarge's return to the target ground to finish her practice or to permit of her taking on coal for the passage north. Rear-Admiral Evans would not permit any attempt at removing him from his ship, although part of the fleet was due to sail north and waiting only for the outcome of King's condition. The admiral tenderly said that not a thing should be done that would decrease his chances of life, and that he would stand by him to the end. Senate Increases to $1,500,000 Second Appropriation in Behalf of Earthquake Sufferers.

(BY THE ASSOCIATED PRESS—P.M.)
WASHINGTON, April 22.—Without debate the House today concurred in the Senate amendment on the joint resolution, appropriating $1,500,000 for the relief of the San Francisco sufferers. The Senate today increased to $1,500,000 the second appropriation in behalf of the sufferers of the California earthquake, and this legislation, like that of the same character that has preceded it, was enacted without comment of any kind. The day marked the conclusion of Mr. La Follette's speech on the Railroad Rate Bill.

HARD TO DROP

But Many Drop It.
A young Calif. wife talks about coffee:
"It was hard to drop Mocha and Java and give Postum Food Coffee a trial, but my nerves were so shattered that I was a nervous wreck and of course that means all kinds of ails. 'At first I thought bicycle riding caused it and I gave it up, but my condition remained unchanged. I did not want to acknowledge coffee caused the trouble for I was very fond of it. At that time a friend came to live with us, and I noticed that after he had been with us a week he would not drink his coffee any more. I asked him the reason. He replied, 'I have not had a headache since I left off drinking coffee, some months ago, till last week, when I began again, here at your table. I don't see how anyone can like coffee, anyway, after drinking Postum!'"

"I said nothing, but at once ordered a package of Postum. That was five months ago, and we drank no other coffee since, except on two occasions when we had company, and the result each time was that my husband could not sleep, but lay awake and tossed and talked half the night. We were convinced that coffee caused his suffering, so he returned to Postum Food Coffee, convinced that the old kind was an enemy, instead of a friend, and he is troubled no more by insomnia."

"I, myself, have gained 30 pounds in weight, and my nerves have ceased to quiver. It seems so easy now to quit the old coffee that caused our aches and pains and take up Postum." Name given by Postum Co., Battle Creek, Mich. There's a reason.

People Driven From Homes Without Time Even to Properly Clothe Themselves Taken Care of on Arrival in Utah—Many Bordered on Mental Collapse.

(BY THE ASSOCIATED PRESS—A.M.)

OGDEN (Utah), April 23.—Six hundred and forty-four refugees reached Ogden at noon and they are now being fed by the local relief committee. The mental strain of the fleeing, terror-stricken people is best illustrated in the misfortune of Mrs. Ida Reed. She arrived in Ogden apparently of sound mind, but when the tension of the scenes was relieved by a realization that she was safely located on the refugee train, bound East, her mind gave way and she is now detained here in the City Jail. Her ten-year-old son is being cared for during his mother's derangement by the women of the relief committee.

The flight of the refugees can only be likened to that of a retreating army. The people arriving today apparently were given from their homes without time even to properly clothe themselves. Some are hatless and coatless

SAN FRANCISCO, April 23.—San Francisco has a vigilance committee, the first organization of the kind since the early '60s. Dr. Donald McCullough Gedge is the chief. He fought in the French army, the United States navy and the China war. His chief of staff is ex-Auditor Harry Basher. The headquarters of the committee is at No. 224 Steiner street. One hundred and thirty persons have joined the organization. Applications for membership are coming in rapidly. The committee has charge of the Golden Gate Valley district, the Presidio. The military authorities in the North Beach district are separating the Asiatics from the Caucasians and putting them in camps of their own nationalities.

A number of large manufacturing companies have arranged to receive and care for refugees at their respective plants along the eastern shore of the bay. Two thousand, seven hundred and fifty persons can be accommodated. Arrangements are now being made to provide for the general relief section, which must be held this next fall, and a meeting of the Election Commission has been called for this purpose.

The San Francisco Real Estate Board met in a synogogue yesterday and took measures for the protection of tenants who have suffered through the fire.

Steps were also taken to secure a remission of any penalty imposed upon taxpayers for the non-payment of the second installment of taxes for the fiscal year ending June 30, 1906.

NO HUNGRY MEN YET.

Fully thirty thousand refugees are being fed by the government at the Presidio and North Beach. Provisions are being bountifully supplied to all who make application and as yet there is no suffering from hunger. Tents are yet being distributed. Over 10,000 have been given out and the authorities intend continuing the distribution so long as the supply lasts.

Barracks are to be erected in Golden Gate Park to accommodate 15,000 persons. The buildings will be 10x150 feet, and will contain thirty rooms, in two-room apartments, with kitchen and bath arranged so as to suit a family or divided for the use of single men.

But for the Wireless, Pacific Squadron Would Not Have Known of Disaster.

(BY THE ASSOCIATED PRESS—P.M.)

SAN FRANCISCO, April 23.—Fifteen minutes after the earthquake in San Francisco Wednesday morning, the cruiser Boston put to sea with the Pacific Coast Squadron, under command of Admiral Goodrich. Not a man on board any of the four vessels that composed the fleet was aware of the disturbance.

At 11 o'clock in the morning of the same day, while many miles from shore, a wireless message from one of the Southern California stations was received and Admiral Goodrich was apprised of the disaster in this city.

The Boston returned immediately to San Pedro Harbor and remained long enough to take aboard many tons of supplies from Los Angeles.

Lieut.-Commander Brand of the Boston said: "Had it not been for the wireless service the squadron would have known nothing of the earthquake and fire. Needless to say, we are delighted to have been of any assistance."

En route from Oakland, the refugees were organized into committees and leaders selected to direct them on their journey East.

SHOCKS FELT IN OREGON.

Temblors Rock Buildings But No Serious Damage Is Done.

(BY THE ASSOCIATED PRESS—A.M.)

PORTLAND, April 23.—A special to the Oregonian from Grant's Pass says that at 1:15 o'clock this morning an earthquake shock was felt, accompanied by a rumbling noise which was plainly audible. Nearly every one in town was awakened. Furniture moved in the houses and several windows were cracked, but no serious damage was done. The shock lasted from fifteen to twenty seconds and its course apparently was from east to west.

A special to the Oregonian from Glendale, Or., says that an earthquake shock was felt there at 1:11 this morning. The shock was sufficiently severe to rock buildings and rattle china in the closets.

FORM VIGILANCE COMMITTEE.

FIRST ORGANIZATION OF THE KIND SINCE EARLY '60S.

Many Large Manufacturing Companies to Care for Refugees at Their Plants—Fully Thirty Thousand Persons Being Fed by the Government at the Presidio.

(BY THE ASSOCIATED PRESS—A.M.)

SAN FRANCISCO, April 23.—San Francisco has a vigilance committee, the first organization of the kind since the early '60s. Dr. Donald McCullough Gedge is the chief. He fought in the French army, the United States navy and the China war. His chief of staff is ex-Auditor Harry Basher. The headquarters of the committee is at No. 224 Steiner street. One hundred and thirty persons have joined the organization. Applications for membership are coming in rapidly. The committee has charge of the Golden Gate Valley district, the Presidio. The military authorities in the North Beach district are separating the Asiatics from the Caucasians and putting them in camps of their own nationalities.

A number of large manufacturing companies have arranged to receive and care for refugees at their respective plants along the eastern shore of the bay. Two thousand, seven hundred and fifty persons can be accommodated. Arrangements are now being made to provide for the general relief section, which must be held this next fall, and a meeting of the Election Commission has been called for this purpose.

The San Francisco Real Estate Board met in a synogogue yesterday and took measures for the protection of tenants who have suffered through the fire.

Steps were also taken to secure a remission of any penalty imposed upon taxpayers for the non-payment of the second installment of taxes for the fiscal year ending June 30, 1906.

NO HUNGRY MEN YET.

Fully thirty thousand refugees are being fed by the government at the Presidio and North Beach. Provisions are being bountifully supplied to all who make application and as yet there is no suffering from hunger. Tents are yet being distributed. Over 10,000 have been given out and the authorities intend continuing the distribution so long as the supply lasts.

Barracks are to be erected in Golden Gate Park to accommodate 15,000 persons. The buildings will be 10x150 feet, and will contain thirty rooms, in two-room apartments, with kitchen and bath arranged so as to suit a family or divided for the use of single men.

CHINATOWN IS GONE FOREVER.

(BY THE ASSOCIATED PRESS—P.M.)

SAN FRANCISCO, April 23.—The big fire has obliterated Chinatown from San Francisco forever. Mayor Schmitt informed Chief of Police Dinan tonight that all of the Chinese now in the city would be collected and placed in and near Fontana's warehouse, near Fort Mason, and that the new Chinatown would be located at Hunter's Point, in the southern extremity of the county, on the bay shore. It is several miles distant from the old Chinatown. All Chinese who have left the city and who return later will be concentrated at the new point.

Gen. Koster Issues Statement in Answer to Criticism of Men of State Under Arms—San Francisco Resolutions Regarded as Slur on the Service, Despite Compliments.

(BY THE ASSOCIATED PRESS—P.M.)

OAKLAND, April 23.—"No accusations of misconduct on the part of the members of the State Militia have been brought to my attention," said Gov. Pardee today, "and I will not believe them until proof is forthcoming."

When questioned as to whether he had been asked to withdraw the militia from duty in San Francisco and surrounding cities, the Governor said: "No request has been made of me to remove the militia, which, I believe, is doing good work, even if it is true that a few individual soldiers have transgressed."

In answer to the criticism made of the work of the National Guard of San Francisco, Gen. Koster has issued the following statement:

"Immediately after the earthquake the National Guard troops were called out for patrol duty, and to render every assistance in their power."

"In the absence of well-defined organization of all the military and police forces, each troop took to itself the performance of such duty as it deemed the most important of the situation, however, the discipline of the National Guard forces was maintained, the alertness with which they stepped forward was

Banker Hellman Says That Eastern Financial Assistance Is Not Needed.

(BY DIRECT WIRE TO THE TIMES.)

OAKLAND, April 23.—[Exclusive Dispatch.] Mr. I. W. Hellman, the prominent banker, was interviewed by The Times correspondent this morning.

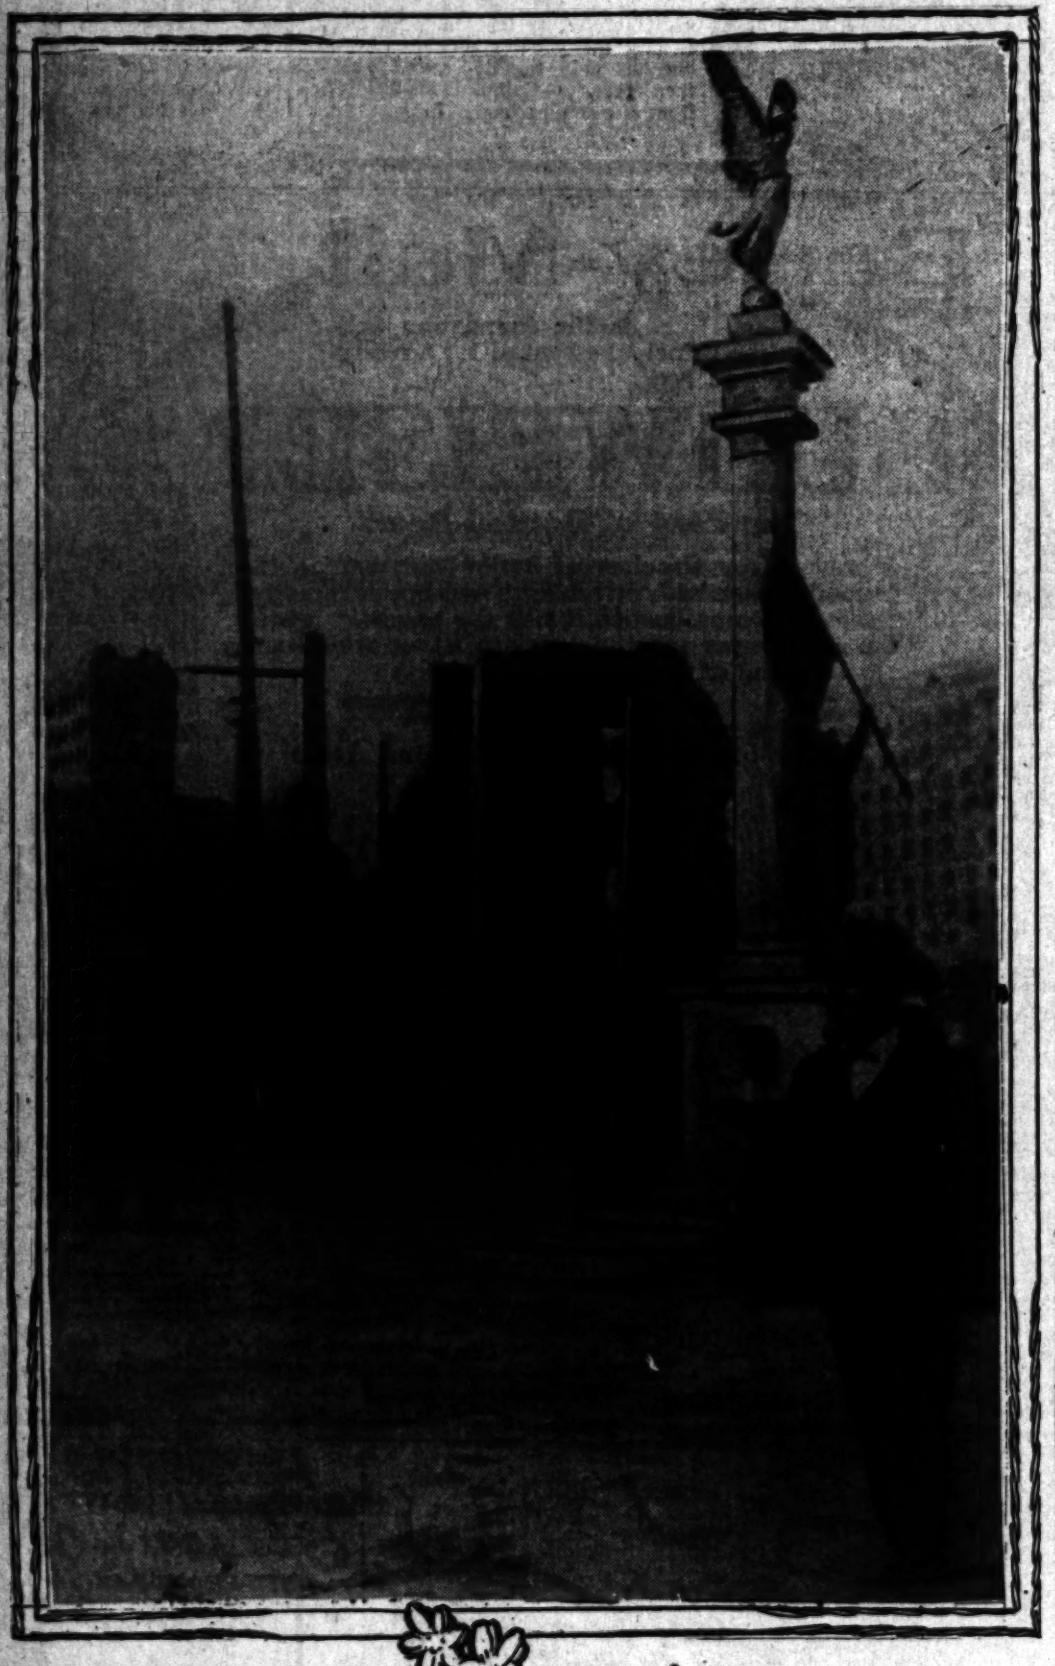

Mr. Hellman said: "While this catastrophe has given San Francisco an awful blow, our banks, as well as several others, will resume business within a few days."

"The banks which I am interested in have twenty million dollars in cash and will pay every cent we owe promptly."

"The Union Trust building, while it is badly gutted inside, will soon be rebuilt and a majority of the space, outside of that necessary for the Union Trust Company, will be occupied by the Southern Pacific company as general offices."

"I wish to further state that telegrams have been received from Eastern bankers offering fifty million dollars. While we thank these banks for their kindness, we do not need assistance. In fact, we are ready to assist any reputable bank which needs it."

"On the Rhythe block I will erect a building after the style of the Farmers' and Merchants' Bank of Los Angeles."

debris of the Memorial Church. Most of the campus dwellings have been repaired.

President Jordan, in an interview with a representative of the Associated Press, said:

"The university authorities will begin at once to repair the quadrangle, laboratories and dormitories. The Memorial Church will be sheltered to prevent further injury, and work in all classes will begin, as announced, on August 23."

It is unlikely that any attempt will be made to restore the Memorial Church, the memorial arch, the new library, the gymnasium or the museum of the university. There is little doubt that the dormitories will be crowded next year, as usual.

EXTENT OF DAMAGE.

The two new buildings, the gymnasium and library, were practically destroyed, nothing but skeletons of

The specimens from Egypt were lost in the museum, which was only partially destroyed. Fraternity Lodge Chi Psi Hall is a total loss. The engineering buildings are partially destroyed.

STUDENT HANNA KILLED.

Enclina Hall, where three hundred boys stay, was badly shaken and a large stone chimney crashed through the four floors, burying Student Hanna of Bradford, Pa. He was the only student lost. About twelve others were slightly hurt.

Robie Hall escaped without a scratch.

and others are garbed in misfits donated by the relief committees between Oakland and Ogden. They all have the same story of horror to relate and their one desire is to get away from the scenes of the misfortune. Nearly all the refugees on this train are bound for Chicago.

Individual lunches for 163 persons were handed out, each lunch being in a cardboard shoe box. Then the distressed people were marshaled in front of improvised counters on which were awaiting them cups of steaming coffee. The children were provided with milk and special thought was given to the babies and bottled milk was served them. Many of the passengers were provided with means sufficient to pay their own way and they remained in the cars or went to near-by restaurants.

En route from Oakland, the refugees were organized into committees and leaders selected to direct them on their journey East.

THE CITY IN BRIEF.

NEWS AND BUSINESS.

Library Open Tonight.

The Public Library will open this evening, after the long delay in electric wiring.

Stock Exchange Closed.

The Los Angeles Stock Exchange was closed yesterday and will remain closed today. This is on account of the governor's legal-holiday proclamation.

Sunshine Chorus.

The Sunshine Chorus of the Sunday-school Spring Festival will have a special recital at 8 o'clock this afternoon at Fiesta Park, at which it is desired to have the full chorus present.

University Benefit.

The University Methodist Orchestra will give a concert in the church at Jefferson and McClintock streets, this evening for the benefit of the relief fund. F. H. McComas and J. S. Greig will assist.

Convention Called Off.

State Superintendent of Public Instruction T. J. Kirk has sent out notice that the convention of school superintendents, called to meet at San Diego on May 1, has been indefinitely postponed on account of the appalling calamity in San Francisco.

Holding His Own.

Capt. Kiener was resting easily last night, and held his own during the day. He is making a game fight for his life, and though his suffering has been intense and he has lost quantities of blood because of many hemorrhages, hope is entertained for his recovery.

Caught Snatching Purse.

Charles Jackson, who is said to have been snatched from the streets last night at Third and Main streets for snatching a purse from an unknown woman, who did not tarry to give her name or enter complaint. The police think Jackson is wanted on other charges. Patrolman Schofield caught him.

Edison Foreman Dine.

With the idea of creating the greatest possible interest among their foremen, the Edison Electric Company has inaugurated the gathering together of its foremen three times every year. To the one just held, more than fifty came from all over Southern California, for a dinner at the King Edward Hotel, where papers were read on various phases of the business. It was a great success, necessarily a great educator, and an additional incentive to loyalty on the part of employees.

Funeral of Dr. Taggart.

The remains of Dr. Charles F. Taggart, who was killed in San Francisco on Sunday by the accidental discharge of a pistol, were brought home yesterday. The funeral service will be held at the residence, No. 314 South Grand avenue, tomorrow afternoon at 2 o'clock. There will doubtless be a large attendance, as Dr. Taggart was well known and popular. He was among the first to offer his services to the afflicted of the city. His tragic death brought sorrow to many in Los Angeles.

Struck by San Pedro Flyer.

The San Pedro Flyer, shortly before 7 o'clock last night, struck and seriously injured J. L. Kilborn at a crossing in West San Pedro. He was brought by train to the Arcade, and removed to the Receiving Hospital. Kilborn has a serious contusion across the back between the shoulder blades, and shows evidences of internal injury. He said he was driving a delivery wagon across the tracks when the flyer struck him, throwing him high in the air and some distance. His wagon was demolished.

The Big Theater Benefit.

Half a dozen prominent lawyers and other well-known men about town will be in charge of the auction sale at the Mason Opera-house tomorrow afternoon, when the choicest seats for the combined theater benefit, to be given a week from Thursday for the San Francisco sufferers will be sold. Among those who will assist at the auction are Earl Rogers, George W. Barnum, Fred A. Hines, Joseph Scott and others. Notices of the sale have been telegraphed to theatrical people all over America, and it is expected that a goodly sum will be derived in this way.

Underwriters Dine and Elect.

A meeting of the Life Insurance Underwriters' Association of Southern California was held yesterday about a table lavishly spread with flowers and good things at the Hotel-Sack-Coff. The meeting was held for the purpose of discussing the best methods of defeating the Armstrong bill and also for election. Those elected are President, Horatio Haskell, local manager of the Home Life Insurance Co.; First Vice-President, Frank Coffin, local manager of Columbian National Second Vice-President, J. W. Whittington, local manager of the Aetna; Treasurer, I. Clark Gray, local manager of the Pennsylvania; Secretary, C. L. Moore, auditor of the Conservative.

THE NEW SPRING OVERCOAT

Tailor-made men being fashion's best just now, long Spring Overcoats are the thing. Because of the 1936 tendencies of women's fashion, the men's Spring Overcoat has been something from the style of 1936. 1936 leads a modified short-tailored coat, and a fitted coat bottom. You will notice this feature in the back view that we present above.

Every detail that fashion demands is included in the Brauer-Krohn Spring Overcoat. Every fabric that any man could ask is here ready to be made into Spring Overcoats.

COST, IN FIGURES, TO MEND BUILDINGS.
Contractor Leonardt Estimates Damages to Great Structures.

Loss on Modern Buildings Not Nearly So Great As Anticipated and Many of Them Can Be Repaired for a Comparatively Small Sum—Steel and Stone Almost Earthquake-Proof.

THE great lesson of the San Francisco fire is here given by one of the foremost authorities on fireproof building construction in the United States, Carl Leonardt, the Los Angeles architect and builder, who returned yesterday from the devastated city.
Mr. Leonardt went to San Francisco on the day of the earthquake. He remained there until Sunday. During all of that time he busied himself in making a close and careful study of the nature and extent of the damage done by earthquake and fire.

His conclusions may be summed up briefly as follows:
Buildings of antiquated construction, of brick and frame, either crumbled under the earthquake or succumbed to the flames and were totally destroyed. Up-to-date fireproof buildings, of accepted materials and construction, stood both the test of earthquake and fire and, comparatively speaking, without exception, were little damaged save in decorations and finishings. The cost of restoring these buildings will be many times below the popular estimate of the damage done to them.

THE REAL LESSON.
The earthquake and fire have demonstrated to the satisfaction of architects and builders generally that the modern steel frame and concrete and stone construction is both earthquake and fireproof.
A lesson for San Francisco to take to heart is to see to it that its business district is restored in the fireproof construction only, and water towers on the roofs would give an individual protection from fire, which is a recurrence of bursted water mains.

MINISTERING ANGEL
HELPS THOUSANDS.

"A NOEL OF FORT MASON," is the loving title given by the incoming refugees from San Francisco to Mrs. Lou Brant, a fair-haired young matron of Los Angeles, who proved herself a heroine during the days of devastation in the North.
The care of the thousands of homeless and in many instances parentless, children, rendered so by the disaster, was the gigantic task taken upon her shoulders by Mrs. Brant at Fort Mason.
It is a beautiful story told by those who witnessed the scene. Clad in a khaki uniform, in lieu of an other obtainable garment, Mrs. Brant was busy night and day visiting the children to the little walls which the great disaster had driven to her.

MRS. LOU BRANT,
"Angel of Fort Mason."
fines of the fort, and many a young mother on a bed of pain, owe their subsequent comfort, ease, and even life itself to the ministering "Angel of Fort Mason."
As the flames spread and the homeless and destitute reached above the 1000 mark, the work of Mrs. Brant increased.
She knew no sleep nor rest, and the self of child newly brought into the fort through the watches of the night was sufficient to call Mrs. Brant to the scene, and the cries of the homeless were stilled when the keener want was somewhat dulled by the influx of supplies and food. Mrs. Brant left for Los Angeles to tell his wife's relatives of their safety.

EDUCATIONAL MEET LIKELY.

Great Gathering Looked for in Los Angeles.

Steps Taken Yesterday to Bring It Here.

Organizations Ready to Put up the Money.

There seems good reason to believe that the National Educational Association will hold its great gathering in Los Angeles July 7 to 14.
It is the sense of the leading local educators and business bodies that this city must see to it that the piece made to the association by San Francisco is here fulfilled. To that end hard and effectual work was done yesterday, a result of two meetings held in the rooms of the Board of Education, presided over by A. H. Chamberlain, dean of Throop Polytechnic Institute and State director of the N.E.A. The meeting was attended by representatives of leading commercial and educational organizations. It was the unanimous opinion that California can by no means afford to let slip this opportunity of proving that the whole State is not under a curse, as some of our eastern friends believe.

WHAT TWILL COST.
W. J. Washburn came in a few minutes to represent the Chamber of Commerce. He asked at once, briefly and very much to the point: "What will it cost?" Estimates varied. Basing calculations from the expense of the last N.E.A. meeting held here in 1899, Deputy Superintendent of Schools J. B. Monlux thought $25,000. In view of the tremendous obligations resting upon Los Angeles at the present moment, Mr. Washburn thought this would be a reasonable estimate.

FIRE THE CAUSE.
STEEL STOOD SHOCKS.
The fire, and not the earthquake, wrought the havoc. This is the verdict of a number of architects and builders who have already examined the ruins of the wrecked city of San Francisco.

QUAKE DAMAGE SLIGHT.
The Mutual Savings Bank building was uninjured. Even the elevators were running smoothly, and the occupants were entering and leaving with only a little added haste.
Up to 12 o'clock, when the fire attacked the structure, the building was practically unharmed. Doors and windows would open and close with ease. The electric lighting plant was also undamaged.

THEY BACK IT.
The chairman of the meeting appointed the following committee to go out at once and confer with the mayor, the City Council and other municipal bodies to enlist their services. The Board of Supervisors having already expressed willingness to aid in the undertaking, Messrs. Milpough, Keppel, Spier, Moss, Quinn, Monlux of Los Angeles, and Messrs. Graham of Pasadena and Morgan of Long Beach. They started immediately on their mission and at the deferred meeting at 4 o'clock, reported that Mr. Cass, chairman of the Finance Committee of the Chamber of Commerce, had said that this body would be responsible for raising the fund of $12,000 or whatever sum is needed to put the thing through. They had also secured the endorsement of the City Council, the Board of Education and other commercial bodies. This same hustling committee brought with it to the afternoon meeting, Traveling Passenger Agent Moses of the Santa Fe, who said that his company is doing its utmost to bring the association to Los Angeles, and he vouched for the lowest possible local excursion rates, probably a single fare. The managers of seven of the leading hotels were also present and departed before the meeting was over to get together and arrange a schedule of hotel rates.

Second Battalion Assembled Here
Awaiting Special Train—Three National Guard Companies to Go.
The Second Battalion of the Naval Militia, Lieutenant-Commander Cosserian commanding, will leave for the North as soon as a special train can be secured to transport it. Caldwell; the Engineer Division of Los Angeles, Lieut. Woodbine, and the Third Division of San Diego, Lieut. Stewart.

GEN. M'NAHON DEAD.
President of Board of Managers of Soldiers' Homes Passes Away in New York.
SOLDIERS' HOME, April 23.—A telegram has been received here announcing the death in New York of Gen. M. T. McMahon, president of the board of managers of soldiers' homes. He died Saturday.

Gov. LaGrange has issued an order for suitable honors to be shown here. Gen. McMahon served in the Civil War as adjutant-general on the staff of Gen. Franklin, Sedgwick and Hooker. When Gen. Franklin was made president of the board of managers Gen. McMahon was made secretary. He continued in that office till he was made president on the retirement of W. J. Sewell in April, 1904.

FOR THE RELIEF FUND.

"California, Where Sets the Sun."

Copies of the new work of the late Mrs. Eliza A. Otis—that beautiful, superb, meritorious and highly commended book—are offered for sale, the entire net proceeds to go to swell the relief fund for the benefit of the needy sufferers in stricken San Francisco.

Prices: Edition de Luxe, $15; popular edition, $3. The net proceeds from the first named edition will reach $7.50 on each book.

Remit by check, postal order or otherwise, adding 25 cents for express charges; or hand orders in at the counting room in The Times building.

We believe that the lamented and gifted author, now dwelling on another shore, would have joy in this action were she to join in it.

I will receive additional contributions and account for all, no matter how small the amounts. All the money so contributed will be turned over to a relief committee composed of reliable citizens whose names will be a guarantee of the proper application of the fund. Let the responses be prompt, numerous and liberal. The appalling horror grows and the suffering must inevitably increase.

H. G. OTIS.

(This list exhibits everything received up to midnight, and embraces various amounts previously acknowledged. Names of contributors, in sums of less than $100, are shown in a subjoined paragraph.)

Yesterday's contributions in amounts less than $100, to be forwarded through The Times, reached a total of $161.89, which amount is accounted for above, under the designation "smaller sums totaling." The donors and the amounts contributed are as follows: Agent of The Naples Company, $15; John Hayes, Monterey, $10; Geo. E. Boston, $10; employees of F. B. Silverwood, $10; F. H. Metcalf, $10; Mrs. E. Mikowsky, $10; Romaldo Aranzaga, $10; a boy 9 years of age, 7 cents for meat and 7 cents for bread—14 cents.

NORTH'S NEEDS MET, LOCAL WANTS GROW.

Shipments to Stricken Section Now to Be Made Only on Specific Order, and Attention Will Be Given to the Destitute Ones Here.

WARNED by telegrams from the North that Oakland has a surplus of miscellaneous provisions, the Citizens' Committee gave orders yesterday to stop the shipment north of general supplies.

The only articles sent to the refugees about San Francisco Bay from now on will be those dispatched in response to telegrams stipulating just what is wanted.

Food, raiment and bedding are still being collected, but they are chiefly for the refugees within our gates. Despite the protests of the Relief Committee, every train from the North continues to pour into Los Angeles hundreds of refugees.

Some of them are really in need; a great many are rank impostors. It is against the encroachment of this latter class that the committee is devoting its energies.

Acting Chief of Police Plummer told the committee yesterday that is percent of the arrivals on a train Sunday night were criminals or yegmen.

Seeking to stop these indiscriminate shipments the committee sent telegrams to Gov. Pardee and Mayor Schnitzer, requesting them to cease issuing free transportation to able-bodied men, but adding that all possible relief will be given to needy women and children.

To Gen. Funston was sent a telegram, requesting him to arrange with Gen. Wainwright of the Seventh Regiment to have persons having relatives in this city report to him and for him to furnish a list of such to the local committee, in order to prevent citizens from going north in quest of their near ones.

Employees of the Old Dominion Copper Company at Globe, Ariz., wired seeking to stop these indiscriminate shipments the committee sent telegrams to Gov. Pardee and Mayor Schnitzer, requesting them to cease issuing free transportation to able-bodied men, but adding that all possible relief will be given to needy women and children.

tee, the Council met yesterday afternoon and passed resolutions authorizing the Citizens' Committee to give additional men to the police force. These men will be commissioned to keep track of the red rioters and the beach combers who are coming south with the refugees.

The Police Commission hopes to get about 100 of these dispatched in response to the somewhat depleted crew on the chain gang.

The committee has arranged to put all able-bodied men at work in the parks at $1.50 a day. If they are unwilling to perform manual labor, they will be sent to the police station.

W. A. Hamner returns here from the north yesterday, bringing a report of the disposition of the first trainload of supplies. He said it arrived just at the time when the stricken ones of the north needed it most.

But word also came that Oakland is overstocked just now with bread and clothing.

FOR REFUGEES. At noon yesterday, the Supply Committee began diverting provisions and clothing to the local refugee stations.

For a time it was a case of rustic to get together enough supplies to supply these already here.

Walter Vail was made chairman of the Committee on Refugees, with permission to choose his own assistants. The men will be expected to work in the city during the day.

Yesterday morning a general organization of the committees doing relief work in the city was effected. James A. Fosbury, supreme president of the Fraternal Brotherhood, was elected president; Judge N. P. Conroy was named as secretary.

DELEGATES PRESENT. The delegates present were: C. M. Davis, chairman of the Chamber of Commerce Refugee Committee; Rev. W. H. Day, for the Church Federation; G. W. Harrison, for the Fellowship; C. C. Desmond, for the Catholic organizations; Mrs. Ada Madison for the Odd Fellows and Order of Deacons; Mr. Stewart, for the Associated Charities; Prof. Fosbury, for the Fraternal Brotherhood; J. H. Foley, for the Woodmen of the World; John C. Stedman, for the Independent Order of Foresters; J. E. Coffin, representing the relief work for Southern California towns outside of Los Angeles. The Native Sons of the Golden West, and other organizations interested, it is expected, will cooperate with the plan agreed upon at this meeting, although their representatives were not present.

An adjourned meeting of this conference committee will be held at 9 o'clock this morning in the Chamber of Commerce, Refuges Committee room. The Church Federation met yesterday morning and adopted strong resolutions endorsing the action taken by the Citizens' Relief Committee to keep disreputable characters out of the city.

Mayor McCall wired Gov. Pardee that no more government steamers are necessary to transport supplies to San Francisco. Enough vessels are in southern waters to carry goods that have been collected.

Citizens are still contributing liberally to the general fund, started by the Citizens' Relief Committee. More than $24,000 was collected yesterday. The cash collections by the committee to date are $127,955.20.

Next Monday will be the last day before the taxes of 1935 will fall delinquent on the second payment, and after that date the delinquent real estate will be sold for taxes.

A vast number of people do not understand how to pay taxes, strange as it sounds to say so, and after the property assessed falls delinquent and is sold the property falls into an involuntary condition, from which it is rescued only after the expenditure of much time and money.

The redemption department of the County Auditor's office is the "trouble" department of the Court house, and a few weeks hence will be burdened with work trying to straighten out snarls that have arisen through the confusion of the tax collector.

Tax collector Welch reports that so far the tax receipts aggregate about $23,000, nearly $100,000 less than was received at the corresponding date last year. But last year the time of grace expired on the 24th, while this year it is on the 25th.

There is a statute that bears upon the matter of the closing of the Superior Court, but it is capable of two constructions. There is a constitutional provision, however, that is capable of only one, and it inhibits the judiciary from holding court on legal holidays or doing other than certain specified duties; what might be grouped under the heading of emergency work.

It was decided by the judges yesterday that upon the first judicial day—Wednesday, unless that day should be proclaimed a legal holiday by the Governor of the State—all the accumulated business will be disposed of as may suit the convenience and wishes of the litigants. There may be trouble over witnesses, and so the rule will not be enforced if witnesses are not present, and the case will be continued.

COURTHOUSE NOTES. BREVIETTES MISCELLANEOUS. MORE CAPITAL. The certificates of increase of capital work from $200,000 to $1,000,000 has been filed by the Llewellyn Iron Works.

CATASTROPHE MAKES NABOBS OF NEWSIES.

Fortune Smiles on Boys Who Sold Papers Telling of the Havoc Wrought by Earthquake and Fire in the North.

SAN FRANCISCO'S wind blew opportunity to Los Angeles newsboys. It made nabobs of a bunch of them. Some of them yesterday couldn't change anything smaller than a $10 gold piece. It landed many of them on Easy street, and the good ladies who find pleasure in charity work among the "newsies" are temporarily out of a job.

Numbers of substantial contributions for the relief of the sufferers have been made by these little fellows whose assistance has come about through the catastrophe that made beggars of millionaires.

The street Arabs won't understand this, but they seldom read below the headlines.

Fabulous tales are told of the fortunes made in a day by the boys who sold the earthquake extras of The Times. Kingpin of the money makers is one of the gentry known as "Frisco," whose nickname has a strange significance in view of the disaster that made it possible for him to exchange these boys as much as 50 cents for one paper.

One enterprising newsboy got 1200 copies of The Times extra and sped to Long Beach on the first electric car

Tommy Prigant, second and Broadway, dean of local newsies, who cleared $5 first day

Temporary newspaper postoffice in The Times Building established to assist main postoffice in handling earthquake numbers; three of hundreds of Times newsboys who reaped a harvest.

A free bed for a $3 a week room, all his own.

"Frisco" is credited by his street mates with having cleared up only a little less than $100 on that first day, when the news of the horror was told him, and exclusively by The Times. But "Frisco" was so puffed up with his riches yesterday that he could not be found. Other topplers were the boys who made $40 to $50.

"TOMMY'S" GOLD MINE.

"Tommy" Prigant, who, though still a youngster, is dean of the local fraternity by reason of fourteen years spent in selling newspapers on the Los Angeles streets, cleared $45 on the first day's sale.

Tommy was the third boy to leave The Times office on Wednesday morning with a bundle of the first papers bearing the news of the earthquake. Before he had stumped along on his crutch to his stand at Second street and Broadway he had sold every one and had to turn back for more.

"They didn't seem to know what it was all about," said Tommy yesterday, "but in about twenty minutes they caught on, and I couldn't get enough copies of The Times to fill the demand."

Tommy gave change every time, too, taking just a nickel for each paper, so his receipts were not swelled by hurriedly tossed-out two and four-bit pieces. He has melted down his gains for the rush days following the earthquake, and is proud to be known as a conservative investor in good properties.

THEIR RICH HARVEST.

Otto Murch and Jesse Maline, who make their stand near The Times office at First and Broadway, reaped a rich harvest on the first and succeeding days. Otto was on hand early and profited by the rapid sale of the extra editions that rolled from The Times press. He made $20 the first day. Unhappily for Jesse, he didn't know of the disaster until 2:30 o'clock in the afternoon. Then he got busy and cleared $15 between that time and 5 o'clock, which wasn't bad for a boy of 12. The eager buyers in some instances paid he could catch. He got in there, sold out at a profit of $30, and sent back to Los Angeles for more before any other paper had succeeded in getting a copy into the marketplace.

At Third and Spring streets a lively aggregation of boys made the news by on the excitement, speaks of eight of them cleaned up $151 on Wednesday, and almost as much on Thursday and Friday. They report profits for one day as follows: Dorr Holden, $27; George Randise, $22; Bob Gregg, $20; J. E. Sheehan, $20; B. Lucas, $17; Harry Curdick, $16; Russell Smith, $15; Sam Miller, $14.

THREE HUNDRED SELL.

At all other principal corners the story was the same. Probably 300 newsies shared in the harvest. Many of them were grown men, who saw the opportunity to make good wages.

One young fellow dashed out of The Times office with the second extra and sold twenty-five copies at 25 cents each before he had gone a hundred feet.

One boy started buying extras with a total cash capital of 10 cents. Before the rush was over he had $30 profit in his pockets; quick and big returns on a small investment.

While this rush was on for news for "home consumption," there also was an overwhelming demand for copies of The Times wrapped for mailing. At street stands and at the counting-room. Local people wished their friends at a distance to know in the best way of the devastation that had been wrought. The graphic and authentic accounts and photographic illustrations furnished by The Times were an attractive medium.

Wagon loads of the papers were sent out to the numerous news stands and street corners, quickly to be sold and stacked up in great piles at the street corners and then sent to the main postoffice, they soon were on their way to all corners of the world.

Orders streamed into the office of publication by telegraph from all parts of the country. One local Chinaman ordered twenty-five copies to be sent to friends in his native land. Prepaid orders were left for thousands of papers to be forwarded.

TEMPORARY POSTOFFICE.

So great became the congestion of wrapped papers, including the complete Sunday edition, that the main postoffice sent word that it had not clerks enough to handle the business. Arrangements then were quickly made whereby an emergency office was established in The Times Building. Scores of clerks were placed at work, sorting the thousands of wrapped papers and placing them in mail sacks, State by State, and even distributed for the larger cities, and great wagons rushed to the railroad stations, to be loaded directly into mail cars.

In addition to the local orders, there were others from thousands of persons at outside points throughout the country, listing subscriptions for one and two weeks or more. In order that the complete story of the great disaster might be handled, newspaper agents doubled and tripled their regular orders, and orders are still being received in The Times office by every mail and by wire for more.

The number of copies of The Times printed and circulated on the first five days of the excitement, speaks eloquently of the intense interest in the awful disaster. These figures are as follows: Wednesday, 109,410; Thursday, 102,230; Friday, 101,000; Saturday, 98,400; Sunday, 101,000.

AID FROM EAST SPEEDING UP.

Twenty-six cars from Philadelphia due today.

Bounty of Keystone City Comes on Fast Trains by Southern Route and Will Be Rushed North—Two Hundred Great Loads Already Gone—Check in Local Shipment.

Running as two special trains on a schedule far speedier than that of regular passenger trains, twenty-six baggage cars from Philadelphia, filled with provisions and supplies, are due to arrive over the Southern Pacific today on their way to San Francisco.

These trains are coming over the Rock Island and Southern Pacific by way of El Paso, where they will be picked up and hurried northward as fast as they can be pushed over the Valley line.

To date, in round numbers, 200 cars of relief supplies have been sent from Los Angeles to the stricken city. Credit for a considerable portion of this beautiful offering belongs to outlying towns.

Although Los Angeles itself has checked in a very considerable measure the sending out of supplies, in order to have sufficient on hand to care for the thousands of refugees now here and headed in this direction, the outlying towns are sending in carload after carload on every available train. These cars are assembled here and are hustled forward as soon as enough arrive to make up a train.

At San Pedro the Merchants' Independent line of steamers has been doing a good work in rushing supplies to the front. Saturday evening in loading of the Francis H. Leggett, seven carloads of supplies were hustled aboard in forty minutes. This company has placed its line entirely in the hands of the relief committees and has been carrying the supplies to San Francisco absolutely free of charge.

DOZEN CHILDREN.

RANCHES WILL TAKE THEM.

Mr. and Mrs. G. H. F. Jarchow of San Gabriel went to the Chamber of Commerce yesterday morning to prefer their home for refugees.

"We will take a dozen children if necessary," said Mrs. Jarchow, "and if the mothers come along, all right. We live on a ranch in the midst of an orange grove, and we have cows and chickens and we'll look after the children."

CITY CHURCHES OPEN PURSES.

HEAVY COLLECTIONS ARE MADE FOR SUFFERERS.

Nearly Three Thousand Dollars at First Methodist—Negroes Do Their Share, and Catholics Respond Without Stint to Urgent Appeal for Aid.

Churches of Los Angeles responded nobly to the general call for aid made yesterday from pulpits. Thousands of dollars rolled into the coffers for distribution among the needy. A part of the money will remain in this city to be used in helping the refugees flocking here. The remainder will be sent north for the suffering thousands.

Never has there been such a generous response to any need, and never has there been such lavish giving on the part of the church congregations in behalf of any cause. None allowed the collection plates to pass empty away.

After an eloquent appeal from Dr. McIntyre, the congregation of the First Methodist Church gave $2800. The money will be divided equally among the refugees here and in San Francisco. The women of this church have arranged to make baby clothes today; work rooms will be opened in the social hall of the church.

There was a rousing meeting of negroes at Wesley Chapel, and $500 was quickly subscribed. Arrangements were made for a concert this evening to secure more money.

"Pity me, pity me," for the hand of God hath touched me," was the text chosen by Rabbi Meyer at the Synagogue B'nai Israel. Money, given and provisions and help promised. The ladies have chosen a committee of ten, and arrangements are being made to receive many of the refugees into the homes of Jewish peoples in Los Angeles.

Throughout the city other churches contributed liberally and every service was given over to the humanitarian work of providing for the needy. Congregations of Baptists, Methodists, and every denomination represented here, gave in good measure, and the sum total was large indeed.

St. John's Episcopal Church gave $300 toward the fund for the sufferers and the congregation will help in any way desired.

Collections for relief were taken in every Catholic church in the southern part of this diocese. In the northern part many of the churches are closed and many of them are partially destroyed; but in the southern portion the response has been liberal, and the enthusiasm for true charity is great. Bishop Conaty believes it will outstrip any recent collection of its kind in years.

Sunday morning Bishop Conaty preached at the Cathedral on "Charity," and called upon his people to respond to San Francisco's call of need.

In the afternoon 100 men of the societies of St. Vincent de Paul went vigorously to work; at the call of the bishop, and from now on will prosecute the relief vigorously. They will take care of refugees, under the guidance of the Relief Committee, irrespective of sex, color, creed or language, and will help set upon a prosperous footing all worthy men and women.

There is special need for Catholic relief in the churches, on account of the suffering from the earthquake in the upper portion of this diocese. At Hollister the Mayor has ordered the churches closed; the venerable mission of San Juan Bautista is practically destroyed; one of two of the Catholic academies have been laid in ruins; other churches have suffered more or less severely.

SOME STRAGGLERS.

James Crogan, whose brother was crushed to death before his eyes, during the San Francisco horror, came in on the second refugee train. Crogan formerly lived at No. 1817 Hayes street, but the house was completely swept away by the fire, and he barely escaped with his life. He is at the Ormond, No. 635 South Hill street, and is anxious to get word to his friend, Harry Oyle, who he believes is somewhere in Los Angeles.

Charles Sayler, Jr., who was in the Palace Hotel at the time of the disaster, arrived Sunday on the incoming Owl.

Suffering from prostration and collapse, H. L. Young, of No. 1344 Market street, where he conducted a shirt factory, occupied a berth in one of the Owl sleepers. He was accompanied by his family, and will seek shelter with his sister in this city.

Miss Bertha Jones of Alhambra, and Miss Lucy A. Robinson of No. 117 South Olive street, were Stanford students who returned home.

Notice to Water Consumers.

Water will be shut off from the city and save yourself the annoyance of having the water shut off.

GHIRARDELLI'S COCOA

The new and improved process used in its making—which, by the way, gives a much darker color to the cocoa—provides Ghirardelli's Cocoa with healthful elements that are positive in their effect. It is because a great quantity of the oil of the cocoa bean is retained that the color is dark.

An exceptional and subtle richness that is pleasing and satisfying to delicate palates is another result.

Because made in San Francisco the cocoa is always fresh and you get the benefit of its full strength.

WOMEN'S CLUBS.

In Memoriam, Kate Tupper Galpin.

The Galpin Shakespeare Club has received and endorsed on its records the following:

Your committee appointed to draft resolutions of respect to the memory of our beloved teacher and friend, Mrs. Kate Tupper Galpin, beg to submit the following:

The Galpin Shakespeare Club, the creation and achievement of Kate Tupper Galpin, has before it the sad and tender duty of recording the close of her earthly life and her promotion into a higher realm of learning.

Standing here in the precinct made sacred by her personality—her invaluable labors for our advancement, her kindly spirit that embraced all humanity, a sense of immeasurable loss overcomes us—we reach out our hands, and there is no response!

And yet we recognize that the air in that of her, for as the sun, that ever out in the heavens leaves their beams of light to shine on for ages and ages, so the sweet impulses and influences that were ever radiating from her warm heart will continue to illumine and beautify the many lives that came into her path, and by reflection and re-reflection, live on into the infinite future.

Life in minds made better by her presence: Live in pulses stirred by generosity: In deeds of daring rectitude, in every noble aim that ends with self: In thoughts sublime that pierce the night like stars, And with their mild persistence, urge man's search.

Mrs. Galpin was born at Brighton, Iowa, August 3, 1855, and passed away in this city, January 10, 1936.

Dedicated in childhood, she was given a free country life with no systematic education until her eleventh year, when she entered the public school, having, however, early learned to read fluently.

—no one knew just how. At 13 her parents moved to Des Moines, Iowa, and the following year she entered the Agricultural College at Ames, Iowa, graduating before she was 18. Here she devoted herself particularly to science, looking toward the study of medicine as a profession, and spending her vacations teaching mathematics in the Bagley College of Des Moines. After graduation she taught in the public schools, twice resigning because men were paid higher wages for like work.

With dramatic ability resembling Charlotte Cushman's, in obedience to the wishes of her parents, she gave up a temporary ambition for the stage, and at 21 was elected principal of the High School of Marshalltown, Iowa. Fine positions were also filled by her at Waterville, Wis., and Pound, Or. At Reno, Nev., she was professor of pedagogy at the State University, giving up this work to come to Los Angeles in 1890, where she was married to Mr. Galpin, by whom she had one child, Ellen, now 14. Mr. Galpin having also three children by a former wife—Lloyd, Hazel and Alfred, all of whom received the best that mother love and superior wisdom could give.

Shortly after her marriage, Mrs. Galpin organized classes for women in literature and parliamentary law; in 1894 was an independent member of the City Superintendent of Schools, with many supporters, though falling of election; was for some years identified with the Marlborough School, serving as president of the Woman's Parliament, and at the time of her death had for a long period been an important member of the faculty of the Cammock School.

If there was one line which she delighted and excelled in more than in any other it was in Shakespeare. Her research, which she began here regularly thirteen years ago, and it may safely be said that no other teacher in Los Angeles—or anywhere—ever reached and influenced so large a number of women—old and young—in this study as she did. As an advocate of women's clubs generally she participated only on rare occasions, her work of teaching which was nearer her heart, occupying the greater part of her time, and in her public work she devoted especially to be known as a teacher.

Mrs. Galpin was one of the great souls that are found here and there as leaders and exemplars to the multitude, possessed of remarkable native talent, with a capacity to serve in a wide range of activities, and with her utmost endeavor and the force of her own merit, she fulfilled the trust her God committed into her hands.

As a wife and mother she was pre-eminent, guiding with gentle love and wisdom her household—her first care; and those who were close to this family circle and also came under the touch of her master hand in the classroom and felt her usefulness in the outside world, where she was ever striving for the betterment of mankind, marveled at the wonderful completeness of this woman's efficiency.

Her wide knowledge of literature and art she combined with the keenest interest in all educational, civic and humanitarian matters, and her voice was lent to every worthy cause. Hers was the all-sustaining intellect, but hers, too, was the all-comprehending tenderness.

Great in the great affairs of life, she was no less so in obscure ways where a cheering word could bring sunshine or a helping hand give comfort, and blessings from grateful hearts were ever following her footsteps. Wherever she trod—even though on barren soil—blossoms sprang up about her feet, and all who came within her course could say, "We are better for her life!" She had the large heart and happy faculty of calling forth and encouraging only the good that was in one. A friend to all, she was especially the friend of women, understanding their imperfections and seeing their possibilities, and she made it her mission, not only to uplift the downcast, but to lead all toward the better unfoldment of their God-given powers. Into broader and more profitable lives.

And we of the Galpin Shakespeare Club, realizing our great loss, yet call ourselves blessed in that we have known the love and helpfulness of this gifted friend and teacher. With every lesson learned there came also something not found between the pages of the book, something from within her own soul that found its way deep into our hearts, breathing a spirit of tolerance, unselfishness and forgiveness, and which followed us into our homes like a benediction from above. This spirit came beaming from her face when our memory turns back to the golden moments passed in her presence.

We cannot know in what vast aerial space shines the light upon her today—or near, or far—but with eyes made clearer by love and hearts chastened by sorrow, we are content to believe that she is there in the light of the sun.

Resolved, that in the passing of Mrs. Galpin, a model home has lost a devoted wife and mother; the family circle, an idolized sister; this community and State, an able and honored member of society; and this club, which owes its existence to her efforts, a beloved and eminently wise leader and counselor.

Resolved, that to the bereaved husband and family we extend our heartfelt sympathy in this their deep affliction.

Resolved, that this memorial be spread upon our minutes, and a copy properly engrossed sent to Cromwell Balpin. Respectfully submitted, Mrs. Jean G. McCracken, Mrs. Matthew S. Robertson, Mrs. George Rice, Mrs. W.

THE LEGEND OF MIANTONOMAH

Or the Origin of San Francisco Bay.

BY CHARLES A. GARDNER.

Hundreds and hundreds of years ago—so long 'tis impossible now to know—With anything like precision—But thousands of moons ere the Western Coast

Had ever been known by the pale-faced host.

And historical records were but at most

The shadows of wild tradition.

There was (at least so the legends say)

Where the waters of San Francisco Bay

Now nestle between the mountains,

A valley as bright as Mohammed's dream.

With beautiful flowers and murmuring streams

Where the music of fountains had ever seemed

To rise from the laughing fountains.

This vale was the home of a warlike band.

Whose prowess was famous throughout all the land

That bordered the Western Sea;

And Miantonomah, their dauntless chief,

Whose arm had brought many a foe to grief,

Made love in the shade of the autumn leaf

To the daughter of Altisale.

The maiden was swift—as all maidens are—

With clustering masses of jet-black hair

That fell in a sea of curls;

And eyes that sparkled like dewdrops in the bright

Or the glimmering stars in the heavens at night.

When they shone in a glory of lambent light

O'er the home of the Indian girl.

So he plighted his faith, as a lover should,

'Neath the clustering boughs of the grand old wood,

That were telling his vows again;

And he swore that his heart should be as changeless

As the mountains that towered so wild and free,

And he hoped that the waves of the Western Sea

Might burst through the rocky chain

And deluge the plains of his native land

With the vengeful wrath of Jehovah's hand.

If he ever should faithless be;

Or that even the light of the sun might fade,

And the brightness of day turn to gloomy shade

Should he cease to remember the vows he made

To the daughter of Altisale.

O, a weak, frail thing is a lover's vow.

From the courtship of Adam and Eve till now,

As a rose with its dewdrop laden;

For scarce had the tint of the wild-wood leaf

Been changed to the gold of the autumn about

Ere the suppliant form of the persecuted chief

Was wooing another maiden.

But the gods had remembered, if men had not,

All the manifold oaths that the chief forgot,

And they loosened their vengeful wrath.

For surely the words had the old priest spoke,

That placed on his shoulders the nuptial yoke.

When a column of flame and sulphur smoke

Burst forth like a demon's breath.

And it lighted the land where its dark form stayed.

Like the shadow of death in the upas shade—

Settling down in a gloomy pall;

While the face of the earth heaved in mighty throes,

As the waves of the sea when the north wind blows;

And the tall, wild peaks of the mountains rose

Till they burst like a prison wall.

And the waves rushed in, in a dark, wild flood,

Till they covered the land where the cedar stood.

With the depths of an inland sea;

And the proud of the white-winged ships now glide

On the ebb and flow of the deep sea tide.

O'er the valley where once by the streamlet's side

Dwelt the daughter of Altisale.
